“ It's been one of life's greatest blessings to me to have known this great man for 41 years. The world doesn't grow men like Bobby Fay McBryde anymore. Probably never will. I knew when I met Rodney so many years ago, he and his family had to be my kind of people. That held true after my first meeting of the McBryde's. Every time I visited them and got to see Bob, we were always ribbing each other about something and sharing laughs and stories. I'll miss him when I visit now but know he's completely healed now and has hit high gear in heaven. My hope and prayer is that he and my daddy have met and are laughing and sharing stories together!
