“ We remember when Grandma Chris and Grandpa came to our wedding 37 years ago. This was my first time meeting them both and they were the most warm people anyone could ever meet. Here I was marrying their grandson Stephan, they knew nothing about me and they welcomed me with open arms. We spent our honeymoon with them and I would not have changed that for the world. After that she would send us those wonderful crochet towels and wash cloths. I still have them to this day. We love you Grandma Chris and we are sorry we did not come and visit with you. Now we can't and that makes us unbelievably sad. Carolyn Ellis
