“ Phil used to come visit Susan and me when we worked at Firestone/Ripley Cable. Susan was his favorite. He and I would always pick at one another. I always got the fist shook at me, he would say, "I'm gonna get you!" Years later, when my children were playing Upwards, he would greet us at the door, everyone else would usually get a handshake or a hug, I would get the fist shook. Sweet memories, sweet friend.

“ Phil was pure love. Many years ago, while I was away at college, Phil would mail me sticks of chewing gum, to keep me from being homesick. His sweet, simple, loving gesture came straight from his heart. Phil was a blessing to all who knew him.

“ I've known Phil most of my life, and he was one of the kindest, most helpful people I've ever known. Many of you may remember Phil leading a blind man around to the different stores on the square. This man (Ivo Reaves) was a family member of mine, and Phil's kindness toward him was so appreciated. Phil was the most dependable volunteer we ever had at Upward Basketball at First Baptist Church. He has been missed since his health failed. Phil loved his church family, and we loved him.
