“ I was taking a walk in the woods on our property today and found a large beech tree. I wanted to see if it had any carvings in it. At one time it was a popular thing for a young man to carve his name and his sweethearts name in a beech tree. Sure enough, there was a carving and when I looked closer, I could make out the initials JWM carved in the tree. I couldn't read all of it because the bark had grown and changed over the years. The Mcmillins used to own this place several years ago and a young JW took the time to carve his initials and was likely a teenager back then. Sending our sympathy to the family and remembering a great man.
